NEW PRINCESS THEATRE

Exercises Will Be Held At One But The Money Was On Hand
O'clock With Formal Adresses.

The finishing touches are being put on the beautiful U. D. C. drinking fountain and at a meeting of the Committee Saturday the date for the unveiling was finally fixed and the program will be announced in a few days.

The formal unveiling exercises, owing to the uncertainty of the weather, will be held indoors and Mr. Geo. A. Reich has generously tendered the use of the new Princess Theatre, which will be opened Monday night.

The unveiling will take place Wednesday Nov. 29, the day before Thanksgiving. There will be a formal eulogy of the Confederate soldiers of Christian county, living and dead, followed by brief presentation by one of the members of the chapter and a formal acceptance by the mayor, on behalf of the city.

The fountain is now complete, except the sanitary mouthpieces on our sides, but it will be covered up until formally unveiled next week.

NARROW ESCAPE

For Lady Who Stepped Backward Into An Open Cellar.

Mrs. G. D. Dalton fell into the open door of a cellar left open by a servant, at her home on East Seventh Street, yesterday and was painfully injured. The back of her head hit the edge of the opening as she stepped backward into it and a severe cut was made from which blood flowed freely until she received surgical attention. Fortunately no bones were broken and her injuries are not very serious.

Mrs. Susan Henry Burbridge celebrated her 76th birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon, at her home on Fourteenth street, by having an informal tea and reunion of as many of the Henry family as could be brought together on short notice. Quite a number of her friends called to wish her many more happy anniversaries. Mrs. Burbridge and her grand-daughter, Miss Willie Cook, will leave today for Dallas, Texas, to spend the winter with Clarence Burbridge's family.

BURNED BY PUFF OF GAS

L. S. Tomlinson Almost Loses Eyesight By Explosion At Gas Plant.

WAS INSPECTING THE BOILER

Taken To Louisville Sunday Suffering From Dangerous Burns.

L. S. Tomlinson, boiler inspector for the Fidelity and Casualty Co., New York, with headquarters in Louisville, was badly burned in a gas explosion here Saturday afternoon. Mr. Tomlinson was here for the purpose of inspecting the City Light Company's boilers. The water in the regular gas boiler at the company's plant had become muddy and had been allowed to run low in order that it could be cleaned out and another boiler had been put in use for the time being. The inspector began an examination of the boiler which was out of commission and when he placed a candle inside there was an explosion from accumulated gas. Mr. Tomlinson's face caught the full force of the puff and he was pretty badly burned. It was feared that his eyesight had been destroyed, but an examination by physicians showed that while they had been injured both eyes would probably be saved. The injured man was taken to Louisville Sunday, accompanied by Mr. Tom Keown, gas foreman at the local plant.

A Mahogany Bridge.

An American furniture manufacturer, who counts his genuine mahogany boards as a jeweler counts his stones, would probably burst into tears if he should go to the state of Chiapas, in Mexico, and contemplate a bridge which spans the Rio Michol for this entire structure, which, with its approaches, is 150 feet long, with a width of 15 feet, is built entirely of solid mahogany.

The bridge is used by both teams and foot passengers, and, though roughly constructed, is very substantial. None of the massive timbers were sawed, as there is not a saw mill in the region, but all were hewn out with the axe from the logs.

On a New York valuation at least $200,000 worth of material was used in the construction of this rude country bridge.—Harper's Weekly.

A warrant was ordered for $1446 for the contract price of the cemetery gates, completed by the Davis Monument Co.

Several street matters of more or less importance were attended to.

A new contract was authorized with Downer & Russell to defend Mrs. Latham's damage suit against the city in federal court.

BIRTHDAY TEA.

Mrs. S. H. Burbridge Celebrates 76th Anniversary.

Cost Him $27.50.

A strange negro named Henry Rhodes, who was seen to drop a dangerous looking dirk and hastily pick it up, was caught after a lively chase Saturday, which was joined in by Sheriff Johnson, Deputy Herbert Johnson and Sergeant Jones. He was taken before Special City Judge A. H. Clark and assessed $27.50, which was paid and he was allowed to depart for Lexington.

LECTURERS TAKE LEAVE

When They Learn That Farmers Were Prepared To Run The Institute.

J. B. WALKER WAS ELECTED

Session Saturday Held After The Paid Lecturers Had Gone Over Protest.

Christian county planters, who came to Hopkinsville Saturday to attend the farmers' institute, are feeling anything but satisfied with the action of the state lecturers, Amos Hall, William Morris and J. T. Perkins, sent here by Commissioner Rankin ostensibly to deliver addresses on agricultural topics. Messrs. Hall, Perkins and Morris left at 11:30 though urged to remain, and did not attend the institute.

However, the meeting was held, as scheduled, in the courthouse, with "Squire" M. B. King, who on Friday was elected president, in the chair. The first business was the election of J. B. Walker as delegate to the farmers' state institute, which will be held at Frankfort in January. R. C. Crenshaw was named as alternate. The delegate has a vote in the selection of a member of the state board of agriculture. Mr. Walker is a democrat.

It is freely talked on the streets that the defection of the state lecturers was a republican political move to prevent Mr. Walker's election. A similar condition arose Tuesday in Elkhorn, when J. W. Keeley, a democrat, was unanimously elected delegate. Mr. Hall, the director, declared he would not certify to the election, on the grounds that the delegate was chosen by persons who did not expect to attend the remaining sessions of the institute.

One of the lecturers stated to Esq. King when he went to the courtroom that he had decided not to hold any Institute Saturday, but Esq. King told him a number of farmers would attend the sessions and the arrangements had gone so far that the meeting could not be called off. The lecturers then filed out, while the meeting was called to order and proceeded without them.

Magraw-Hopper.

Miss Lucy Hopper and Mr. Richard A. Magraw of Cadiz, Ky., were quietly married Friday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. French, in the pastor's study of McKendree church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopper, of Cadiz, Ky., and the groom is the deputy clerk of Trigg county, Ky.—Tennessean and American.

Carmack-Knight.

Lewis Carmack and Miss Sallie Knight, young people living in the Larkin neighborhood, were married at the home of the bride's parents last night. Rev. L. L. Spurlin officiated.

Victim of Pneumonia.

Mrs. Corn Henderson, wife of Mr. Bryan Henderson, died Friday night at her home nine miles northeast of the city, after a brief illness, of pneumonia, aged 42 years. She was a native of this county, having been born and reared in the neighborhood where she died. The interment took place at Ebenezer Saturday afternoon.

Back to Army.

Thad Drake, of this city, who has served six years in coast artillery; Louis Walker, of Iron Hill, who has served three years in the same department of the army, and Claud Hopper, of Macedonia, were enlisted at Paducah last week.

When the Chinese revolutionists now gathering outside Nanking move on that city to commence what is expected to be the decisive battle of the rebellion two of their prominent leaders will be Ting Chin Chen and Yin Tsing Wen, graduates of the United States Military Academy.

Both Ting and Yin were members of the class of 1909 at the academy, and were the first two Chinese to earn military science under the tutelage of the United States Government. After completing their course they were sent to Germany and France, where they spent eighteen months. In January of this year they were ordered back to Pekin. When the rebellion began both of the young officers obtained commissions in the rebel army.

The statement sent out from the Pension Bureau that the negroes have decreased 81 per cent in Kentucky since the 1900 census is not borne out by the facts. It serves rather to sustain the charge that a large percentage of the negroes of Southern cities were not enumerated last year, for one reason or another. Nor is much credence to be put in the statement that the negroes are decreasing in the county at large. They may have been overlooked by the enumerators, but they are still here and most of them are raising families.

Richard, the eldest son of Peter, last year found his bride in Miss Elina Parrott, and John, next in age, will contribute to the list with Welsh Rabbit, as he puts it. In Derby recently Walter Graves married Miss Anita Coffin.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Some Kentucky School Superintendents Make but $1 a Day.
EVEN PAY OWN POSTAGE.

But With These Pitiful Salaries They Must Put Up Bonds as High as $30,000—Average Territory is a Hundred Square Miles.

Does the blame for school conditions lie at the door of the county superintendents or the people at large?

Many county superintendents receive salaries of $400 a year, and none of them receives more than $1,500. When a man has a salary of $400 he is of necessity forced to do something else or starve to death.

No stream can rise higher than its source. No underpaid man can put energy and thought into his work. In one of the fertile and prosperous counties of Kentucky not many miles from Cincinnati, O., I had an interview with a county superintendent whom I knew to be a "live wire" educationally. My first question was:

"How responsible does the public consider your position?"

"Do you mean as measured by money or by the bond I am asked to give?"

"Your bond."

"Well, I have to give a bond of $30,000. You see, I have $24,000 to pass through my hands annually to finance the forty-six schools that are scattered over the county. Besides, the schoolhouses with their equipment are an investment of about $85,000."

"You say scattered over the county. How much territory does it cover?"

"This is rather a small county, but my schools that I am forced to visit cover a territory of a hundred square miles, and they are on many kinds of roads. It is quite a proposition to supervise the work of sixty-five teachers in forty-six schools, to say nothing of the office work and the inspection that is necessary for repairs and new buildings."

I was silent for a moment, thinking of the probable salary that would be paid a manager to take charge of business with $55,000 in the plant spending $24,000 a year running expenses and covering a territory of hundred square miles. I smiled and asked quietly:

"What salary does this county allow you for your work as county superintendent?"

FIVE HUNDRED AND TEN DOLLARS.

"Do the county and state allow you an adequate expense account?"

He pulled a pocket notebook from his desk and smiled rather bitterly as he said:

"They do not even pay for the stamps or stationery in my office work. Let me run over this for a moment and show you how it goes. I must keep a horse and buggy or I cannot get about. As this county has never taken over the turnpikes I must pay my own toll. If I am far from home in winter time I must stay all night at some hotel. All this makes my expenses for the past year $230, leaving me at the end of the year $280. That's LESS THAN A DOLLAR A DAY FOR ABSOLUTE WORKING TIME."

"What is the highest salary paid county superintendents in the state?"

"Fifteen hundred, and they are few and far between. There are lots of them on the $400 and $600 basis, and it simply means that the fellow has to do life insurance, farm a little, take a place in a store, make a living in some way and then use what time he can spare for the schools."

IT SIMPLY MEANS THAT OUR RURAL SCHOOLS ARE NOT MANAGED AT ALL. THEY ARE MORE COMMONLY MISMANAGED.

Education for the mass of the people is an investment and a business proposition. With a carefully educated population a state or a community can move forward in a desert, anywhere you place them. With an illiterate population the finest country on the globe cannot force them to make good. Brains, trained brains, is the insistent call of the twentieth century. Does Kentucky hear that call? Business and prosperity follow brains; lawlessness and poverty follow illiteracy. Kentucky will be out of step with the onward sweep of the hurrying twentieth century so long as she allows thirteen children out of every hundred to grow into manhood and womanhood robbed of the divine right of being able at least to read and to write.

In order that Kentucky may occupy a place in the forefront in the matter of education, a movement has been inaugurated for the improvement of county schools.

Indifference due to a failure to appreciate the real value of education is one of the very serious obstacles which have confronted every movement toward a higher standard of educational work. In the last few years greater interest has been exhibited generally over the state, indicating in a decided manner that our people were shaking off the lethargy of the past and were aspiring to place the state on a sound, progressive educational basis.

Every citizen must rejoice over this awakening, and all should now unite in a continuous, earnest effort to stave off neglect of the past. It would be a useless task, in view of this growing appreciation of the importance and value of education, to make any argument or submit any extended report in its behalf.

The Newest Probationer

By Annie Hinrichsen

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press)

The young physician looked at the girl with the helpless exasperation induced by long and unsuccessful argument.

"Can you not realize the absolute slavery to which you are sentencing yourself?" he demanded.

Miss Helm tilted her chin a trifle higher. "To me it will not be slavery. I have chosen my life work. I shall be very happy in it."

"In a month you will be glad to give it up."

"I am tired of hearing that," she flared. "Every friend I have has said the same thing—that I shall give it up. I shall be a trained nurse and a successful one."

"But I want you to marry me."

"I prefer to spend my days with the sick and the suffering."

"Don't do it, Janet, dear. Marry me and—"

"I won't marry you, Lester," she said irritably, "and I want you to stop asking me."

Dr. Melville's patients at St. Mary's received a great deal of his attention, especially the ones in the charity wards. In these wards the probation nurses worked. Hospital custom decrees that the newest probationer shall do the most menial tasks in the institution.

Each morning when Dr. Melville visited the charity wards he saw Janet Helm, the newest probationer, practicing the lessons the head nurse had taught her. She scoured brass and woodwork and bathtubs. She washed bottles, cleaned instruments and polished floors. One day he stopped beside her as she knelt on the floor.

"Miss Helm," he said with a malicious emphasis, "how do you like nursing?"

She shook out the oiled floor cloth she was using and smiled merrily up at him. "I love it. I am perfectly happy. Go to your patients and don't disturb me. And be careful not to track dust over my clean floors."

Several days later Dr. Melville found Janet sitting beside the bed of the hospital's oldest inhabitant.

"I have been promoted," she announced proudly. "I no longer scrub. I have a patient."

"Glory be," ejaculated the old lady. "It is sure a blessed saint they have given me for my nurse. Such tenderness and gentleness were never before in a woman's fingers as are in these lily hands."

"Now, am I not a real nurse?" asked Janet, triumphantly. Her voice was lowered and the deaf old lady could not hear her words. "I am bringing happiness and comfort to this helpless old woman. Can there be a nobler task? What sweet compensation can there be than the gratitude of this poor, unfortunate woman?"

As she spoke, the spoon with which she was feeding her patient slipped and the hot broth spilled on Mrs. O'Brien's neck. There was a yell of rage. Two skinny fists were shaken savagely at the girl. From the old woman's toothless mouth came oaths and fearful objugations.

"Yes," said Dr. Melville, under the continued storm of Mrs. O'Brien's maledictions, "you will find no sweeter compensation than the gratitude of this poor, old lady."

Three months after Janet had entered the hospital she and Dr. Melville were leaving the ward together one evening.

"Miss Helen," said the head nurse of the ward, "Miss Sprague wishes to see you in her office."

Janet's face whitened and a look of anxiety came into her eyes. Miss Sprague was the superintendent of the hospital. She held little personal communication with her nurses. A nurse was never summoned to her office except for an important reason. She was the absolute dictator of the hospital, and her rule was a stern one.

When Janet had gone, Leslie Melville walked up and down the long corridor. He was heartsick with anxiety for the girl who had been called to the superintendent's office.

He knew well what Miss Sprague's summons had meant to many nurses as hard-working and as faithful as Janet. He had seen them come from her office with white faces to leave

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Hopkinsville People.

One kidney remedy never fails. Hopkinsville people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Hopkinsville testimony proves it always reliable.

Mrs. Francis Brown, 204 Fourth St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "There is no doubt about Doan's Kidney Pills living up to the claims made for them and you are at liberty to use my name as one who recommends them highly. I was annoyed for years by backache which came on by spells especially severe when I contracted a cold. About four years ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at L. A. Johnson & Co's Pharmacy and I was not disappointed with the results. After taking a dose or two I knew that the remedy was acting directly on my kidneys and in a short time my trouble ceased. During the past four years I have used Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when having similar attacks and in each case they have given me prompt relief. We think a great deal of Doan's Kidney Pills and always keep them in the house."

not want you to be expelled. Miss Sprague's cruel act will compel you to give up the profession. Won't you marry me? I love you more than ever, Janet."

"You would marry a nurse who has been expelled, discredited?"

"I would marry you under any circumstances."

"Lester, why did you not ask me to marry you before I decided to become a nurse?"

"Why—why—you knew I loved you."

"You did not say so. You did not ask me to marry you until I told you I expected to enter the hospital. I was too angry and hurt to accept you. I have proved that I can be a nurse. Silly, frightened boy: you thought Sprague had expelled me. Look at my head."

On her hair rested the hospital cap. She had never worn one before.

"My probation ended today. Miss Sprague sent for me to tell me that I had done so well as a probationer that I was entitled to the ranks of the pupil nurses with the honor of wearing the hospital cap. She was lovely; she is not a bit hard or unreasonable. She talked so beautifully to me that I cried and she kissed me and set the cap on my head."

"But you said you were to leave the hospital."

"I am. I leave to marry you. I have demonstrated my ability to endure the hardest period of a nurse's life. I have learned how much you love me. I am ready to leave. I shall now demonstrate my ability to be a good wife."

HOPKINSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Saturday afternoon High School defeated Owensboro by the score of 11 to 6 in one of the best and cleanest games ever played on a local gridiron. Both teams were rather evenly matched altho Owensboro outweighed the local team by over ten pounds to the man. But High School displayed a terrific speed and fighting spirit which eventually won the game.

The game was won in the first half. The marvelous speed of the High School team completely dazzled their heavier opponents and by the end of the first half they had scored enough points to win the game. High School started off with a rush. They kicked off to Owensboro but soon recovered the ball. Then Fuqua was substituted for Higgins, and he calmly placed a drop kick squarely between the goal posts.

In the next quarter High School simply swept the Owensboro boys off their feet; by line plunges, end runs, and forward passes, they gained at will. A few minutes after the quarter began Fuqua tackled Jinke of Owensboro behind his own goal line and threw him for a safety. Then High School secured the ball and on a toward pass to Fuqua, landed the ball on Owensboro's two yard line; from here Abbott carried the ball over and Green kicked goal.

In the second half Owensboro came back with a rush, and in the third quarter, Meisenheimer carried the ball over for a touch down, Clarke kicked goal. Then in the fourth quarter they rushed the ball to the 3 yard line but High School held firm and Robertson punted out of danger. But Owensboro came again and time was called with the ball in their possession on High School's 5 yard line.

For High School the whole team played the greatest game of their career. Altho outweighed by over ten pounds to the man, they never flinched but hit the line harder and harder every time. Fuqua and Abbott were whirlwinds of speed, time after time they broke through the line for long gains. The general ship of Capt. Green couldn't have been improved upon; he ran the ball well and played a great defensive game. The whole line played great ball as well as the ends and rest of the team.

For Owensboro, Jake, Clarke and Boyd were three of the fastest men ever seen on the local gridiron. Meisenheimer played a great game and made their lone touchdown.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

BARS OUT RUSSIAN GEESE

Germany's Blow to a Great Trade
Seriously Feit on Both Sides of Border.

Announcement has been made that the German authorities have suspended the importation of live geese from Russia on the ground that there is a considerable amount of disease prevalent in the frontier districts of that country.

Consequently, as this prohibition does, immediately prior to the period when imports of live geese increase rapidly the question is serious alike to breeders in Russia, who will have large quantities of birds thrown on their hands; to German goose fatteners, as they will be unable to fill up their pens, for the home production is totally insufficient to meet their requirements, and to housewives in Germany, who will find the already high price of what is an important article of food advance still further and probably be prohibitive. Russians state that there is no justification for this regulation, that it is a trade move in the interests of German dealers to force down prices and as a measure of fiscal protection to German breeders.

Germany imports annually about 8,000,000 live geese, of which seven-eights come from Russia, where these birds are bred in vast numbers throughout the western and southwestern government. They are bought from the raisers by traveling dealers, who drive them in huge flocks to the frontier stations, where they are entrained for despatch to Berlin and other cities.

The cars used for this purpose are built in four decks, each car holding about 1,200 birds. Special trains are run in the season, consisting of a dozen to thirty-five cars, in accordance with the supply. As many as 50,000 geese have been known to arrive at Magdeburg market, Berlin, on a single day.—Westminster Gazette.

PREPARED FOR THE WORST

Musical Hall Manager Sells Smelling Salts to Patrons of His "Awful Spectacle."

When it comes to advertising dramatic thrills, consider the manager of a music hall and moving picture show. Horrors are that manager's specialty. Posters and a piratical barker do their share toward creating goose flesh, but they are not nearly so effective as the youth who offers bottles of smelling salts for rent. Right out in the middle of the sidewalk he stands, thrusting his volatile wares—stoppered, fortunately—beneath your nose.

"Goin' inside?" says he. "Take this—you'll need it; faint without it. Only five cents. Brace you up for the awful spectacle."

You stop; you wonder. What can the awful spectacle be like? The chances are that you had no notion of going to that show or any other show just then, but the prospect of seeing something so blood-curdling that you can't live through it without smelling salts appeals to your imagination. You drop all business and go in.

Woman and Her Check.

She was brisk and full of business as she bustled into the bank, stepped to a desk, indorsed a check and then handed it in at the paying teller's window.

"You see, I've indorsed it and come to the right window the very first time," she said with a beaming smile. "We women are getting to know a little about banking."

"That's very true, indeed, madam," said the teller, "but this check is not signed by any one."

"Well, I just got it from my husband. He's in Chicago. Here's his letter, telling that he is enclosing it."

"That's all good enough, madam, but the check itself must be signed."

"Here's his name on the letter. Can't you cut it off and paste it on the check?"

It took the teller some time to explain and he still wonders if she doesn't think he just didn't want her to have the money.

Just Letting Off Steam.

An Englishman living in New Guinea writes to a London paper: "A neighbor of mine, just as everyone was going to bed, began to make night hideous with his shrieks and groans. . . . shouting like some midnight rooster in the chorus of a comic song, and then a blood-curdling wail, as of a dog that bays at the moon. There was nothing particular the matter with the man. In New Guinea we are denied the means of excitement, or the consolations, or the narcotics, or the dissipations, of cultured and civilized men and women, so we must just let ourselves go, and howl and sing and shout, and then howl again. And nobody takes much notice and nobody minds."

Sculptor Receives Decoration.

Albert Jaegers, the sculptor of the Baron von Steuben statue, which was recently presented by the United States to Germany, has been decorated with the Order of the Eagle, fourth class, in recognition of his merit. He was born in Elberfeld, Germany, in 1865, obtaining his education in the public schools. Without wealth or influential friends he worked away in the face of many discouraging features, until self-taught in art, he arrived at the point where his creations commanded recognition. He came to this country several years ago to make his home, and he has an attractive place at Buffalo, New York.

TO BE TRIED NEXT WEEK

Suit of Mrs. Latham vs. Amoss
And Others in Federal Court.

ECHO OF THE RIOT OF 1907.

Similar Suit Against Hopkinsville Will Not be Tried
This Term.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 20.—The United States court will convene in Owensboro on Monday, November 27, and will probably have one of the largest trials on record.

This will be the first session to be held in the new government building, at the corner of Fifth and Frederica streets, and the courtroom, which is one of the handsomest in the state, has all conveniences and accommodations which could possibly be desired.

There is enough work at this extra term to keep the court in session for at least one week.

One of the most important cases to be tried is that of Mrs. Elsie G. Latham against Dr. D. A. Amoss and 108 others for $50,000 damages for the burning of a tobacco factory belonging to the late John C. Latham. The burning of the factory was the result of the night rider raid made on the city of Hopkinsville during the summer of 1907. Of the defendant and others there are about 200 who are interested in the outcome of the trial. Preparations have been made for a trial at this term, and it is understood the case will go to trial.

Mrs. Latham also has an independent suit for $10,000 damages against the city of Hopkinsville, growing out of the same trouble, in which it is claimed that the officials of Hopkinsville failed to use proper care in the enforcement of the law, and to prevent the attack made by the night riders. This case will probably be started if the other suit is tried.

Mr. Latham is represented by Samuel W. O. Bradley and John S. Sims, while the Christian county defendants are represented by Judge W. T. Farmer of Hopkinsville, while R. A. Miller, of this city, represents the city of Hopkinsville.

At the last term of court the case against the city of Hopkinsville was dismissed, the court ruling that both suits could not be tried jointly, and a new suit was then filed separately against the city.

A recent night rider case on the docket is the case of C. C. Shemwell against John Chapman and others, in which the plaintiff is seeking damages in the sum of $20,000 for injuries alleged to have been inflicted by night riders at his home in Todd county, during the night rider troubles in that county.
